

Joe Friggieri is Professor of Philosophy and Head of the Philosophy Department at the University of Malta, holding doctorates from Milan and Oxford. He is also a poet, playwright, theatre-director and a regular contributor to cultural programmes on radio and television. In addition to his literary output, Joe Friggieri has also written works in Philosophy of Mind and Aesthetics. His short stories, originally published in Maltese, have been translated into English, French and German, and favourably reviewed in the Times Literary Supplement.